

Fun Fact Friday

Why do you think there is an apostrophe in the word o'clock?

Answer

In the past, people said 'of the clock'. Around 1419, the Oxford English Dictionary wrote the contracted version, o'clock' to mean the start of the hour.

